Report of the Board of Directors for the Year 2006

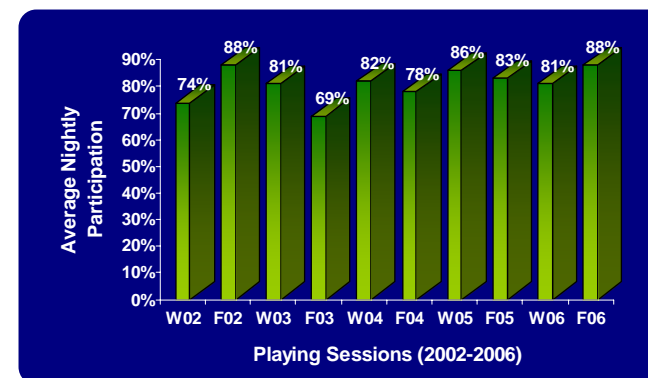

A few hours before the very first night, an interested individual called to say that he had seen a flyer at a grocery store and that he was wondering if it would happen. It happened that night and five years later, it is still happening.

That was on January 15, 2002. Although registrations were slow to come in and only 21 individuals had registered prior to that date, 34 people showed up that night.

One month before the opening night, it could have been easy to abandon everything after seeing that the number of registrations was much below what was needed to make it work both practically and financially.

However, the story of our Club had started before, with attempts to get a few towns' recreation departments to offer a floor hockey program for adults similar to their basketball and volleyball programs. The ultimate reason for creating this non-profit organization was to do it our way, to go the distance and to be able to take risks. Risks were taken and success occurred.

We really started this venture on a shoe string budget, with the minimum of equipment. Players had to share sticks. Some members will also recall that goalies did not wear any pads during the first session and that goalie gloves were provided by one of the members. Over the years, the paper bags and cardboard boxes were replaced with real sports equipment bags.

Over the ten programs (fall and winter) that were offered during the last five years, the Club achieved an average nightly participation of 81%. It is important to mention that of the people who were present on that first night, nine of them were still playing in the fall 2006 program and six also played in every program since the very beginning. Two of these are women.

The essence of this Club has been to create an environment in which adults of all ages and abilities can enjoy the game of floor hockey. The Club has tried to accomplish this by fostering safety and good sportsmanship through its game rules and its use of equipment.

The story of our Club is one of perseverance. Commitments brought us where we are.

Our Club can continue to be a strong entity in another five years if members strive to play in the spirit of the Club and are willing to share their time and talents.
